Press Release

MARK HAYNES NAMED PRESIDENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL SERVICES AT HIGHGROUND INDUSTRIAL

Mahwah, NJ: January 28, 2015: Highground Industrial LLC is pleased to announce today that it has added Mark Haynes as President of Environmental Services, a key addition to its management team. During 2014, Highground, a full service demolition company, expanded its in-house team and added Environmental Services. With the appointment of Mark Haynes, Highground Industrial is making Environmental Services a stand-alone offering to its customers.

Mark joins Highground bringing it a wealth of environmental consulting and management experience, having been involved in environmental consulting and brownfield development in a variety of capacities for over 25 years. Previously, he was COO of TMC Environmental, where he expanded the company's service centers throughout the Northeast and Florida resulting in significant growth across the company. Prior that, he was President and COO of Environmental Compliance Services, Inc., a consulting company specializing in Due Diligence, Subsurface Investigations, and Remedial Design and Installations. Highground plans to expand its environmental services on the East Coast, utilizing its in-house environmental and development experience.

David Hoehmann, President of Highground, said, "We are very excited that Mark has joined our management team. We have made a commitment to offer in-house environmental remediation services in addition to our demolition services. Highground's Environmental Services has a depth of Brownfield experience which is unparalleled in our industry and places Highground in a unique leadership position in the Brownfield redevelopment sector."
